

WANTED

A large, empty rectangular box with a black border, occupying the upper half of the page below the title. It is intended for a drawing or illustration of the wanted individual.

A series of eight horizontal black lines, evenly spaced, filling the lower half of the page. These lines are intended for writing a description of the wanted individual, including their name, appearance, and any other relevant details.